20/ RESPONSIBILITES OF THE ORGANISER AND COMPETITORS

20.1. – Skippers participate in the event at their own risk and fully accept that choosing to do so is their own responsibility. It is the sole responsibility of each skipper to decide whether or not to take the start of the event or continue with it, as regards his or her competence, the equipment at their disposal, the wind strength, the weather forecasts, etc. Any information that any member of the organisation is in a position to provide before or during the event, for example a gale warning, will constitute one detail among others upon which the skipper may base his or her decision without the organiser being accountable.

20.2. – The responsibility of the organiser and its partners is limited to ensuring a fair sports event; any further responsibility that the organisation may agree to would have to be contractual and explicit. Any checks in particular that the race committee undertakes, shall have the sole aim of ensuring that the sporting rules, the current notice of race, the sailing instructions and their appendices and amendments have been respected.

20.3. – The monitoring, and in particular the telephone and or Inmarsat C monitoring, as well as fleet tracking that the organiser might provide, should be considered by skippers as optional and uncertain, and under no circumstances as an extra safety measure which may be relied upon. Any request made to a member of the organisation would not make the organiser accountable unless the latter has explicitly agreed to this request, either directly or through one of its official spokesmen/women. This particularly applies to various requests for help and even assistance at sea.

20.4. – Skippers will be held personally responsible for any material or physical damage to themselves, their boat, other boats, or any third part or the property of a third party. Skippers will be responsible to the organiser for taking out all the necessary insurance to cover civil liabilities and damages incurred for the race. The absence of third party liability in no way makes the organiser or its partners accountable.

20.5. – The current Notice of Race reminds participants that all boats are compelled to offer all possible assistance to any other boat or person in danger, should they be in a position to do so, in accordance with rule 1.1 of the RRS and the international measures in force. In this case and after changing course, the skipper must immediately supply Race Management with all the details required to ensure there is the possibility of the International Jury later awarding time for changing course.

21 / USE OF RIGHTS

The owner or user of the yacht and any possible sponsor, by the sole fact of their participation, agrees that the organiser can use, for promotional purposes or other, any text, photo or video footage relating to their participation in the event to be published or broadcast via the press, television or internet (non exhaustive list)
